Silent Auction Process

- ❖ Each attendee will be assigned a bidding number. Use this number, not your name, when bidding on items.
- ❖ Each item will have its own bidding sheet attached to a clipboard. The sheet lists a product description, the retail value of the item, a beginning bid price, and the increment that the bid must be increased by. For example, if one prize is a doll costume and the starting price is $20, the paper may state to bid in increments of $5. Therefore, the next bid should be $25, then $30, and so on.
- ❖ You may bid multiple times.
- ❖ Please write legibly and write only one bid per line.
- ❖ All sales are final. All items are "as is."
- ❖ Gift certificates are valid for one year unless noted otherwise. Please read descriptions carefully!
- ❖ The Ballet reserves the right to add or withdraw items, without notice, to or from the auction.
- ❖ The last bids will be accepted at 8:45 p.m.
- ❖ Winners will be displayed on the PowerPoint at approximately 9 p.m.
- ❖ Prizes must be paid in full the evening of the auction. Cash, checks and credit cards will be accepted at the payment table in the lobby where you first checked in. Please make checks payable to "Johnstown Concert Ballet."
- ❖ Be sure to get a pink paid-in-full slip. No prizes will be distributed until the pink payment slip is presented.
- ❖ If you do not win a prize, you can still donate to the company. Note that there are two donation options: one is for company costs such as costumes, production fees, rental fees, professional fees, etc. The other donation option is for DanceWorks building renovations. We have received several grants, but need matching funds.
